Air Conditioning SERVICES

@MisawaPitStopGarage

1. RECEIVER-DRIER

The receiver is a metal container that serves as a storage receptacle for the refrigerant. It's also referred to as a drier because it absorbs moisture from the refrigerant and filters out particles of debris and acids that would otherwise harm your AC system. Commonly located on the liquid line of the AC system, you should change your drier every three to four years to ensure quality filtration and prevent any damage caused by detrimental chemicals.

Our machine vacuums and clears out any moisture in the system to ensure the receiver-drier is functioning properly.

2. COMPRESSOR

The compressor is a belt-driven device that derives its name from compressing refrigerant gas and transferring it into the condenser. While acting as a simple pump, the compressor is the core of your vehicle's air conditioning system. Our machine checks the pressure output of the compressor to make sure it is operating properly.

3. CONDENSER

The condenser's primary function is to cool the refrigerant. It is a heat dissipating apparatus that radiates heat released by compressed gasses and condenses them into high-pressure liquids. The location of your condenser depends on how new your car is. It is typically found at the front of the vehicle, directly in front of the engine cooling radiator. We make sure your cooling fan is operating properly and that the vanes in the condenser are clean and free of debris.

4. EVAPORATOR

The evaporator is designed to remove heat from the inside of your vehicle. We check the blower motors filter or cabin filter of your car to make sure it is working optimally. Lastly, lines and hoses are inspected by applying vacuums and dye to check for leaks.

NAF HRO OFFICE

Torii Building 656, Room 1460 | 226-3108

 @MisawaNAFHRO

NOTE | Currently, ETAP is only available for Air Force to Air Force transfers. For CYP employees coming to Misawa from other DoD components (Army, Navy, Marines), you may still be eligible for the ETAP incentive bonus if appointed to an AF NAF CYP position.

Do you want a job that can transfer with you to your next location*? Apply for a Child & Youth Program (CYP) position today!

ETAP is a voluntary transfer assistance program that allows Nonappropriated Fund (NAF) CYP employees to non-competitively transfer to another Air Force CYP position without a break in service. It is open to all current regular and flexible NAF CYP employees. Before leaving Misawa, you will work with your supervisor and the NAF HRO to complete your ETAP package. This will be forwarded to your gaining installation and you can be placed into the same position without applying through USAJobs. Employees who onboard with ETAP are awarded an incentive bonus (currently $1,000) after completing 90 days of employment at the gaining installation.

*Contact the NAF HRO for more information.
